OUR CRYPTO TIPS

AUGUST 6TH TO AUGUST 12TH

While the market is undecided in the appreciation in BTC because of ETFs, volume continues to decline and the war between bulls and bears continues, volatilities are good, but bears do best in the aggressiveness of the market.

Vitalik Buterin, co-founder of Ethereum recently mentioned that mass adoption of cryptocurrencies is more important than ETFs, many disagree, but it is a matter to be reflected. Perhaps both are important in parallel.

Binance's CEO, Changpeng Zhao, in an interview to Fortune, mentioned that ETH and EOS will not be fast enough and will be outdone by projects that will allow developers tools to write their own blockchains for specific purposes.

On the future of decentralized apps, Zhao mentions that they are just beginning, and a greater usability of blockchains based on messages, games, social media, and rating systems are on the way. He also said that Binance's DEX will be released later this year.

It is very clear that the crypto ecosystem is only beginning and that many technologies will be overcome, others adopted, constantly and possibly faster than many expected.

OUR METHOD

All the ratings here are made with quantitative informations.

By this way we don't work with informations around the development of the tokens technology, or even the specialized media information about what's going on.

On the other side, this method can bring objective analysis so, then, we can compare all the tokens under the same rule.

Also, we evaluate with numbers what the method predicts compared with what happens next.

So we can calibrate the weights and make this information week by week better and better.

We hope this report is valuable to your trade or hodl decisions!
